GOING WILD!

Bear Grylls is a British TV presenter and an explorer. His real name is 'Edward'. When he was a child, people named him 'Bear' because he was quite big – and he wasn't very quiet! Luckily, he was also much friendlier than a bear! At school, Bear was good at languages, especially French, and he loved PE, because he was very sporty. But his main interest was geography. He thought that learning about different countries was fascinating.

Bear loves travelling and adventure sports, like climbing and paragliding! He climbed Mount Everest in 1998, when he was twenty-three, and in 2003 he walked across the ice in the freezing Arctic. In 2007, Bear made a TV programme. On the programme, Bear travelled to dangerous and often very scary deserts and forests with only a camera. He didn't take any food, drink or tents! On the programme, Bear ate snakes, alligators, flies and frogs. He hated eating the insects – he said they were disgusting!
